MEMBERSHIP ENTITLEMENTS

All members (including delegates) receive quarterly news and notices and the annual report.

All individual members and members of an affiliated organisation are welcome to attend monthly council meetings, held on the last Thursday of the month (February to November), 4.30–6.30pm, at the Sydney Mechanics School of Arts, 280 Pitt St Sydney (room location displayed in the foyer). Meetings usually include a guest speaker.

In addition to monthly meetings there are a number of luncheons, awards days, seminars, workshops and special functions throughout the year which you may find of interest.

The office bearers and 12 elected delegates form the Executive of NCW NSW.

ADVISERS

Advisers are appointed by the Executive of NCW NSW.

An adviser may alert the Council to issues of concern in their area and provide advice when action is planned at state or federal level. Advisers may be appointed in the following areas:

Education; Mass media; Arts and letters; Music; Health; Nutrition; Environment; Habitat; Child and family; Youth; Ageing; Migration; Legislation; International relations and peace; Implementation of conventions; Human rights; Economics; Women and employment; Consumer affairs; Rural and urban women.

DELEGATES AND REPRESENTATION

NCW NSW is represented at a range of government inquiries and written submissions are made regularly.

Delegates attend NCWA triennial and mid-term conferences which are hosted by constituent councils.

ABOUT US

Do unto others as you would have them do unto you

National Council of Women of NSW Inc. is one of the oldest women's organisations in Australia and is the coordinating body for almost 60 affiliated organisations as well as a large number of individual members.

NCW NSW coordinates the concerns of scores of member organisations and a similar number of individual members as they work to improve the status of women and their families in NSW. The organisation is non-sectarian and non-party political.

Councils in each state are linked through the National Council of Women Australia (NCWA) and to the International Council of Women (ICW), which has Category 1 consultative status in the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations.

NCW NSW AWARDS

Awards are presented each year to promote the work of the Council:

Australia Day Award – to assist students to continue their studies

Jean Arnot Memorial Award – for excellence of librarianship

NCW Award – recognition of women's voluntary community work

Dame Marie Bashir Peace Award – for students who have shown great leadership in creating social justice and harmony in their schools
