2014: 120th Anniversary of Women's Suffrage in SA

Dear Colleague

As you may be well aware, 2014 marks the 120th anniversary of women's suffrage in South Australia, by which South Australian women were granted the right to vote and stand for Parliament.

This is one of, if not the most significant event that has occurred for the advancement of equality for women in the political history of South Australia.

I am writing to encourage you to mark this occasion through the planning of a celebration, event or acknowledgement of perhaps a significant member of your organisation or maybe a prominent suffragette who may not have previously been given much attention. Your celebration could take the form of a social media or email campaign throughout your networks or maybe a celebration event such as a morning or afternoon tea. These are merely suggestions of course and I am sure you will have plenty of ideas yourselves.

The Office for Women have kindly offered to promote these events through their social media outlets, networks and website so please let them know how you are planning to mark this important occasion by contacting Fiona Mort at officeforwomen@dcsi.sa.gov.au.

I look forward to celebrating 18 December 2014 with you.

Yours sincerely

HON GAIL GAGO MLC
